Carmangay 5 Champion 4

After suffering a decided reverse at Carmangay the local hockey team came back strongly on Thursday night and while they lost a 4-5 game to the visitors they made the winners extend themselves to the very utmost. J. M. Moffatt was referee to general satisfaction and a clean game resulted. The teams were as follows:

Carmangay—Oala, goal; Miller and Hubka, defence; Hicks, Moore and Palmer, forwards; McKay, sub.
Champion—Harris, goal; Boss and McCumber, defence; S. Anderson, A. Anderson and McIntyre, forwards; McLean, Adams and Stephenson, subs.

Kiddies Christmas Big Success

On Saturday, Dec. 28th, the annual kiddies' Christmas sponsored by the Elks was held, 200 juveniles being on hand for the occasion. The hall was tastefully decorated. Christmas trees being largely in evidence. The gifts were greatly appreciated by those in attendance, and the picture show which followed was unanimously voted the real thing. This annual day held by the Elks is decidedly one of the most satisfactory evidences of their activities in the way of carrying good cheer to the community, especially in the eyes of those who are able to take part in the festivities.

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Robinson and the latter's father, A. E. Thomas, wish to thank the several organizations in Champion for flowers sent to Mrs. Robinson during her illness, the citizens of the town for kindnesses rendered in the same period and also Dr. Freeze for professional services. Mrs. Robinson was so far recovered as to be able to leave for Junction City, Oregon, on Thursday night.

The present cold spell is general all over this province as well as the provinces to the east of us. It would appear as though this winter would furnish a record for cold and storms before it is over unless there is a big change in the near future.

Canada will benefit by the experiment in radio education soon to be undertaken by the Columbia Broadcasting system which has the encouragement and sanction of the United States office of education of the department of the interior. A test will be made of the possibilities of this method of instruction by the commissioner of education, Dr. William John Cooper.

The Columbia Broadcasting System has worked out through its own committee on radio education a tentative curriculum which will be broadcast in February and continue twice a week during the remainder of the school term. Interest in radio education has increased during the past year to such an extent that the recent conference of the national council of State superintendents and commissioners of education appointed a special committee on the subject. There will be no advertising admitted to school broadcasting.

Fire Destroys Coal Shed

On Friday night an alarm of fire caused quite a stir for a time. The blaze was at W. Isaacson's where the coal shed was discovered on fire. Prompt measures by neighbors and the arrival of the chemical engine confined the damage to the building itself. Mr. Isaacson wishes to thank the fire brigade and others who were on hand in record time considering the condition of the streets. Chief Miller is to be congratulated on the prompt response to the first call for months.

Reception for Mrs. F. Smith

Mrs. Orville Smith and Miss Gladys Woodhull were joint hostesses at the home of the latter on Monday, Dec. 30th, in honor of Mrs. Fred Smith (nee Miss Zina Jacobs of Cardston), a bride of recent date. Some twenty-four ladies were present and a very pleasant afternoon resulted, dainty refreshments being served.

On Sunday afternoon Leonard Isaacson was injured when the car in which he was riding overturned, sustaining painful bruises and other injuries. He was taken to Vulcan where an X-ray examination disclosed that no very serious damage has been done. He is now practically recovered from the effects of his experience.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Smith entertained to a turkey dinner at the farm on New Years Eve. As the majority of the visitors were old timers, needless to say, with old time music and singing, a most enjoyable evening was spent. The whole crowd looks forward to another meeting of the same kind and think it is a pity that New Year's Eve comes only once a year.

The local bonspiel has been in progress during the week with one hundred curlers taking part. With the exception of the first two draws when the ice was rather heavy excellent curling has resulted and the bonspiel is being enjoyed thoroughly by both curlers and spectators.

An old time dance will be held under the auspices of the Alston U.F.A. on Friday evening, Jan. 10th. The Champion orchestra will supply the music. The admission of $1.50 per couple includes supper. A prize will be given to the couple dancing the best old-time waltz.

Miss Florence Ulrich was home for the holidays.

At the annual meeting of Alston U.F.A., L. B. Ohlweiser was elected president and Emory Miller Sec. Treas.

"What Makes Canadians Canadian."

Every time an American comes to Canada to live, his secret determination seems to be to try and make this country Yankee. Every time an Englishman comes to Canada to live, he wants to make this country English.

The resisting of these two opposing impulses is a good thing for this country, because, it is what makes Canada Canadian. Canadian personality is welded out of the clash between English influence and American influences.

Canadians are able to realize that the American is going too fast. His rational, scientific action, his business philosophy of make or break, and his restless business ambition tend to make a business machine which has created an astounding prosperity in United States.

But have these things made Americans happier? Have they added to the richness and success of American life? Are the American standards of success based on true and lasting premises?

The Englishman, on the other hand, is going too slow. His industrial philosophy is archaic. Maintaining a vast army of middlemen, he lets the workman do what the machine should be doing. He devotes his time to political philosophy and economic theories rather than to practical action. He is the source of big world talk and big political talk.

But the Englishman has a cultural setting and an aesthetic background that the American, as a class, lacks.

Canada cannot afford to adopt either English or American methods in their entirety. She must pick the best of each and apply them to her own peculiar problems.

And the sooner Americans and Englishmen in Canada realize this fact, the sooner they realize that this is CANADA, the sooner will they become good Canadians and make the going easier for themselves.

Meantime, the pressure from both sides is forming and building up a distinctive Canadian personality.

And that personality is an engaging and a hopeful one. Johnny Canuck is sitting here with 3,729,696 square miles, including some of the most productive soil in the world; sitting here with vast resources, with minerals, including 96 per cent. of the pre-Cambrian shield, containing the great ore deposits of the world; sitting here with a variety of climate unequalled in any other country on earth.

His vigorous Nordic temperament gives him the energy to develop his possibilities. His historic background gives him cultural appreciations.

His achievements and his blood give him a pride and a determination, as he sits here on his fortune, not to be led by the nose this way or that, but to make a distinct and powerful personality for himself and for his country, CANADA. Reprint from Vancouver Sun.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing artist at Blackie's New York night club, is loved by Grace Farrell, but he doesn't know it. He is a handsome, popular singer, and wins fame as a comedian. He is married to a girl named Junior, who is a singer, but she is a devotee of Al. Al is about two years old, Molly, who is a singer, is about two years old, and she is a devotee of Al. Al is about two years old, Molly, who is a singer, is about two years old, and she is a devotee of Al. Al is about two years old, Molly, who is a singer, is about two years old, and she is a devotee of Al.

CHAPTER XXVII

A few moments later a figure came rapidly around Grace's desk and stood by her side, where she was shielded by the screen from the view of the crowd. It was Al—in new clothes, but with the old smile. As she rose his arms went round her and his mouth pressed against her own. It was the first real kiss he had ever given her!

With Al's arms still holding her close, Grace looked up into his face with an expression in which joy and wonder were mingled. She had dreamed of this moment for so long, but always believed it could not possibly come true. Now that it had come true it seemed almost unreal, because it was so closely associated with those long-ago dreams. Yet the arms about her were certainly real and Al's kiss had the taste of reality that never comes in a dream.

"Dear little Grace," Al whispered. "I was thinking of you all day—seeing you as I had seen you in the Square, waving to me. I'm late—did you think I wasn't going to show up?"

"I knew you would come," answered Grace softly. "I've always believed in you and I believe in you now more than ever before."

There was a sound on the other side of the nearby door and a waiter entered, on his way to the dining room from the kitchen, just as Al released Grace. But the waiter saw the tell-tale movement and could not hide his astonishment. This little feminine assistant manager had a reputation around Blackie's place for coyness and aloofness.

"She!" said Al, when the waiter had passed on. "I must find Blackie and tell him what you've done for me. I think he'll be astonished at this quick change."

Al glanced down at his new blue serge, double-breasted suit with pinstriped tie. Then he struck an attitude, holding his brown beard in front of him in a burlesque pose, as if he were ready to be photographed.

"Look over, Grace! How am I?"

"Splendid!"

"Well, if you say so I must be good. I have some new evening clothes on, but I'm holding them for another night. No one dazing you too much at first."

Grace laughed easily at his bantering manner, but behind her smile she was studying him closely. He was a little too gay and over-excited, his voice and hand trembled every moment or so.

"The next thing to do is to ask Blackie for a job," he said quickly. "Must have something to do, must get back on my feet."

But Grace reached out quickly, took his hand and pulled him close.

"Sit down here beside me, Al, quiet—don't say a word for a few moments. I can see you're a little nervous and excited. You've had a nerve-wrecking day. Don't you think it would be better if you didn't start to work right away? I do. If you'll just sit and rest for a few days you'll get your bearings better. You and I will go for walks and talk things over. And on Sunday we might go out in the country."

"You're right, Grace," he agreed. "A man can't do himself good as I've done during all these months, and then come back in a few hours just by buying a few clothes. I see what you mean—take the whole thing too slowly."

"Yes, that's right. Did you go to that hotel you pointed out to me in the Square?"

"I've got a nice room overlooking the river. But I'm going to talk to Blackie, what do you want me to do now?"

Grace smiled; again he was the talkative child. "If you want to go home and sleep all night long."

"Now?"

"And I want you to call me at home tomorrow at noon—I'll be getting up then—and I'll want to breakfast at the Brevoort."

"But who's going to take you home tonight—counted on doing that?"

"But who's going to take you home tonight—counted on doing that?"

"But who's going to take you home tonight—counted on doing that?"

But his style of singing was so individual that he was recognized behind his make-up. Then the news penetrated the up-town section—Al Stone was found!—and his old cronies began to drift down to Blackie's. Marcus came to see him, song publishers made him offers.

Alain Grace saw the look of interest in his eyes, again plans for protection were made. Al made Grace his manager and refused to see anyone on business.

So the days drew on into winter, with Al close to complete recovery and almost ready for Broadway. Marcus wanted him to write some songs and sing in a revue and he had promised to do it.

During this period Grace was conscious of a sense of strain in herself. At first she wondered what caused it, then she decided it was the memory of Molly. Whenever Al mentioned these questions over and over again:

Where was Molly? Had she obtained her money? What had she done? What she might return to try to win Al back again?

CHAPTER XXVIII

Grace realized that on many occasions when Al was silent he was thinking of his beloved son and wondering how he was getting on.

It was a question now since Molly had so cruelly taken him from Al and she had not seen him since.

No word had reached New York concerning the divorce since that one message announcing that Molly was being sent to the States.

much after all. He had earned the reputation of having a fortune simply because of his lavish spending on Broadway.

But during this period the relationship between Molly and John changed personally. It was John who began to show signs of boredom and Molly who became more infatuated. One day when she was moody he did not forgive her as Al had always done. He simply went away and stayed a few days. When he returned in response to her tearful pleas she loved him more madly than ever.

Then came the day when Perry said, "Molly, I wish you wouldn't have that child around so much. He interferes with our plans and he bothers me terribly."

Molly's voice trembled as she answered, "But I love him, John! What can I do with him?"

"Send him away," insisted Perry harshly. "Send him to a nursing home, or board him out with some family."

Molly gazed long into the handsome, irritated features of the man she loved. She realized she must do as he said if she would hold her own. So little Junior was boarded out with a French family. It happened to be a family where he wasn't given good care, his usually happy nature became thin and pale. He was terribly lonely, and he often cried for his mother who he had never seen.

Status Of Dominions

Conference Brings To Light Important Developments In Empire's Constitutional Position

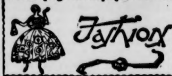

Another important development in the Empire's constitutional position has resulted from the International Air Conference, just concluded at Paris. Britain and the Dominions, though they signed the 1919 international air convention separately, hitherto had one joint vote at the convention, despite sometimes conflicting interests. Now it has been unanimously agreed the Dominions have separate votes and the alteration is embodied in a protocol which the Dominions have signed in alphabetical order, along with other nations.

New Colored Film Process

Swiss Company Is Formed To Exploit New Invention

A Swiss company has been organized to exploit a colored film process invented by the French scientist, Berthoin. The price will not exceed that of ordinary film, it is said. The invention, although not explained to the public, is understood to render colors possible by optical instead of chemical means, the color being registered by bands on each side of the film, as in the case of sound in "talkies."

Times Have Changed

People Too Used To Modern Improvements To Make Good Finances

It is almost invariably advanced in arguments regarding aid to immigrants that the latter have greatly deteriorated since the pioneer days of Canada when men and women invaded the wilderness with practically no resources and there heaved out homes and estates for themselves. Regardless of how the comparison may redound to the credit of the first settlers, it is of no help in solving the problem of colonization in Canada today. When this country was making its first bid for population the whole situation was parallel. Everybody was on the same footing. There were no millionaires, there was little luxury of any kind, no railways, no theatres, not even decent roads. The job ahead of the settler was to plunge into the wilderness and take the chance that others were taking. There were no distractions of ease or pleasure. The game was to eke out an existence under very difficult conditions, but equality was omnipresent. Today all the human beings that we can draw upon as colonists have seen something of comfortable existence, of motor cars, of railway trains, of luxurious homes, of fine hotels and theatres. They have witnessed the spectacle of a large percentage of other human beings go through life without engaging in grinding toil. It cannot be wondered at that they shrink the onerous task of tackling existence at the bottom. The environment has made that look like a waste of time and effort. Everyone hopes, in some way, to beat out the primitive methods of gaining a livelihood.

The Quality Of Mercy

Good Work Of Red Cross Society In Saving Eyesight Of Afflicted Child

In that far north land where the aeroplane is taking its mail today and linking the regions beyond with the centres of civilization, there lived a little child with a pair of beautiful bright eyes. Tragically stalked in to the little girl one unhappy day, for she had the great misfortune to hurt herself with a pair of scissors while playing. Her eye was injured in a moment and in much pain the child had to endure the smarting ache. Anxious mother hurried to see that the child be treated, and to all appearances the eye healed up.

Two months later it was observed that the little girl was groping her way along, and in great dread the doctor sent for her. In that far north land medical aid is difficult to obtain. Hearing of the distress of the home a Red Cross Nurse hurried to see the child. The worst fears were realized, the child was evidently going blind. There was one hope, that with immediate care the other eye could be saved, but there was a long and tedious and most costly journey to be made to the distant city of Edmonton, where eye specialists, could be consulted. Communications with Headquarters of Red Cross in the capital city resulted in transportation to the sufferer. The sight of one eye had gone, but with immediate care and treatment, the other eye could be saved. Twice blessed is the work of the Junior Red Cross in extending relief to the suffering child.

Mid-Atlantic
Airports Scheme

Aerialist Looks Like Great Ironwork Piers

The idea of making a series of islands across the Atlantic as landing places for passenger-carrying aeroplanes that will one day ply the air between this continent and Europe has for long been the basis of romantic schemes. One such scheme is about to come true, and when it does, there will be eight floating islands between New York and Southampton, forming great stepping stones for the use of aircraft on regular scheduled flights.

These islands are part of the equipment of a concern soon to exploit trans-Atlantic air service. The islands are known as Armstrong aerodromes, after their inventor. Construction on them will begin this year. They will be anchored 400 miles apart, and will be landing ports for machines which expect to carry travellers from the United States to England or France in 15 hours.

Seen out of the water, the aerodromes look like great ironwork piers. They will float instead of stand. Thirty-two "legs" will support the aerodromes, which will be 1,100 feet long, 400 feet wide and 350 feet high. The floating airports will be 50 feet above water, out of reach of the largest waves. The inventor says the peculiar construction will prevent all rolling motions. A hotel will stand on one side of each island, and a hangar and mechanics' quarters on the other.

Killed By Chinese Bandits

Three Missionaries Are Slain In Most Revolting Manner

The Rev. James G. Keller, superior of Maryknoll Junior seminary, at Los Angeles, Cal., was reported by the Press that he had received by mail details of the murder, in China, recently, of three Franciscan missionaries, Rev. Bishop Jans and Fathers Bruno and Rupert.

Father Keller said the missionaries were killed in a most revolting manner. Bishop Jans being literally hacked to pieces. The clergymen were captured by bandits. The death of these missionaries, Father Keller said, brings the total number of Catholic priests killed in China recently, to 22.

World's Largest Market

Smithfield Market, in London, England, said to be the largest meat market in the world, is shortly to celebrate its sixty-first anniversary. Some idea of its capacity can be had in the fact that 4,000 tons of beef, the equivalent of 60,000 sides, can be displayed at one time. More than 150 tons of mutton are shown in the building in the month of December, 1925, more than 20,500 tons of beef were handled there.

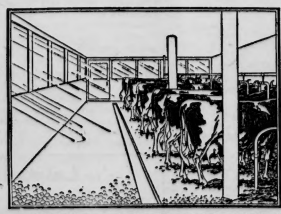

George Washington never lived in the White House. This edifice was not yet completed when he died.

RADIO QUESTION TO BE REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

Ottawa.—The question of national radio broadcasting in Canada will probably be referred to a parliamentary committee during the forthcoming session. While no definite announcement has come from the government sources the importance of the matter has led to the conclusion that the whole subject of radio will come under review by a special committee of the House of Commons.

The chief recommendation of the Royal Commission on radio broadcasting which concluded its labors last September, was that broadcasting should be placed on a basis of public service and that stations should be owned and operated by one national company.

The recommendations included the erection of high power stations to give good reception both day and night throughout the entire settled area of the country. The suggested nucleus of such a system is seven 50,000 watt stations. Radio engineers agree this would give Canada the most powerful chain of stations in the world.

Date Announced For Freight Rate Hearing

Appeal Of Western Provinces To Be Considered, January 16

Ottawa.—The cabinet has announced that the freight rate appeal of the western provinces will be heard on January 16. The hearing was to have been held several weeks ago but was postponed.

The appellant provinces are British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Now, however, Saskatchewan has withdrawn from the other two provinces and has submitted a separate appeal. This appeal has not, as yet, been made public and it is presumed here that it will be released for publication at Regina.

The three cables were apparently broken in several places. Engineers on the cable repair ship estimated that 250 miles of new cable would have to be laid to replace the torn and twisted sections. The cost probably will be about $400,000.

Little Demand For Raw Silk

Tokyo, Japan.—As a result of the increasing manufacture of rayon and various other silk substitutes, the consumption of raw silk in Canada and the United States, is considerably less than formerly, according to reports submitted to the Silk Association. Consumption of raw silk in the United States alone during the month of September was estimated at 6,430 bales from the month previous.

May Be President of Club

London, England.—The report states that the Prince of Wales, who, early in the New Year, became president of the Bachelors' Club, of which Prince is a member. Should he accept, it would obviously confirm his reported intention of not entering the state of matrimony in the immediate future.

Christmas Ship Disaster

Twenty-Four Lives Lost Off Coast Of Spain

London, England.—A ship disaster in which 24 lives were lost marked a Christmas Day of terrors along the coasts of the British Isles, France and Spain.

A Norwegian steamship, bearing conflict from certain seas off Vigo, northwestern Spain, after terrible gales forced it aground. The ship was bound for Vigo, nearby.

At 1 a.m. fishermen on shore saw its first rocket of distress. Although a heavy fog prevailed, and the storm was so severe that fishing boats in the inner harbor were damaged, the fishermen struggled to reach the battered vessel. After two hours they approached within 700 yards of the doomed steamer, but could not get closer.

The stricken vessel sank with all hands. Later four bodies were washed ashore, all wearing life-preservers. Letters and other documents cast up by the waves indicated the ship carried a crew of 24. No survivors were found.

Lloyd's which received an account of the shipwreck, believed the ship's name to be "Alasag" instead of "Alasag" and the "Alasag" was listed as of 990 tons.

The storm blew out of the southwest, banishing the blue skies and sunny weather of Southern England. Rain fell in torrents and hail rattled on the streets of London, England. The heavy weather ruled the south coast districts, where Christmas visitors to resort towns watched great sea pound on the beaches and harbor walls at Folkestone and other ports.

Search For Missing Aviators

Canadian Pilots Arrive In Alaska On Way To Siberia

Seward, Alaska.—Carrying three parachutes and a complement of Canadian flyers are to be engaged in the search for Pilot Carl Ben Eielson and Mechanic Berntsen, missing since their crash in the Yukon coast guard cutter "Chelan" has arrived here.

It is stated it was through heavy weather all the way north. The Canadian flyers aboard were Captain H. A. Oakes, in charge, Captain T. M. Pratt, chief pilot; W. B. Brewster and Clifford Swartman, C. F. Mess and William Hughes, mechanics; Major H. C. Decker, in charge of the expedition for the aviation corporation, and A. B. Baker, A. Pratt and Whitney, mechanics.

ANGLO-AMERICAN NAVAL PROGRAM "SATISFIES JAPAN"

Paris.—A new school of thought—that France should play a leading role, to a larger navy than those of the United States or Japan, and second only to Great Britain—has developed in certain circles here. It is unlikely that the French delegates to the five-power conference will make such a claim, but the popular sentiment must be considered when France contemplates any sacrifices around the conference board.

The claim is based on the contention that France is a greater colonial power than the United States or Japan, which now outrank it as to naval ratios, and has a greater area and population of overseas possessions to protect.

Tokyo.—Baron Shidehara, who formed the cabinet and council, it is understood, that the Japanese government has instructed its delegation to the London arms conference to support a program of Anglo-American solidarity, if the attitude of Italy and France make this necessary.

A UNIQUE SCHOOL ROOM

Fire In White House

Executive Offices Of President Hoover Damaged By Blaze

Washington.—Swept by a sudden Christmas Eve fire, President Hoover's executive offices at the White House were ice-cold and desolate.

Summoned from the dinner table, Mr. Hoover was one of the first to reach the west wing of the White House where the smoke which had begun to eddy thickly, he went into his offices and began to carry out furnishings and documents. He was persuaded to leave the room with difficulty, and even then he stood outside to see who was carrying out valuables. The flames, however, began to show amid the smoke, and he retired to a nearby terrace to wait until the fire was brought under control shortly after 10 o'clock.

It followed a tour of inspection and afterwards announced that the wing would be rebuilt.

Everything in the west wing save documents and papers in steel filing bookcases and filing cabinets was damaged by smoke and water. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Arrest Italian Extremists

Is Alleged To Have Plotted Death Of Royalty

Brussels, Belgium.—With the arrest of a young Italian in connection with an alleged murderous plot against the Belgian royal family, police expressed the belief they had caught the leader of an extensive group of extremists whose activities have been under surveillance some time.

Camillo Berneri, alias Roisin, was arrested a few days ago after Belgian police secret agents shadowed him several weeks. A man named Pascale Rusconi, alleged to be one of his accomplices, was arrested simultaneously, but four other suspects, three Italian and one Dutch anarchist are still at large.

Rusconi is alleged to have headed a plot to bomb the Belgian royal train and thus to prevent the forthcoming marriage of Princess Marie Jose, of Belgium and Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy.

The authorities said that an extensive roundup of anarchists and other extremists probably would result from the evidence discovered with the arrests.

Will Publish Memoirs

New York.—The memoirs of the late Georges Clemenceau, wartime prime minister of France, will be published simultaneously in the United States, England and France, late in February or early in March.

Will Help Canadian Business

Two-Cent Letter Rate Extended To South America

Ottawa.—Christmas Day marked the inauguration of a two-cent letter rate from Canada to all parts of South America. Announcement to this effect was made by Hon. Peter J. Veniot, postmaster-general.

This letter rate already applies to all parts of North and Central America, and will now apply to the following countries: Argentina, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, Colombia, Ecuador, the Guianas, Paraguay, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela.

In making the announcement, Mr. Veniot expressed the opinion that the two-cent letter rate would result in considerable advantage to Canadian business. On this point the postmaster-general commented on the great natural resources of South America, its present day development in transportation and its great trade expansion.

The South American countries, Mr. Veniot intimated, have been invited to reduce their letter rate to Canada, and thus make the arrangement reciprocal.

In addition, the postmaster-general declared, an agreement has been reached with the Argentine postal administration for the extension of the parcel post weight limit between Canada and Argentina from 15 pounds to 20 pounds. Such an arrangement, Mr. Veniot believed, would facilitate trade with Argentina, as Canadian commercial houses would be able to ship large quantities at lower rates than has hitherto been possible.

Trying To Locate Gold

Christmas Turkey Starts Gold Rush At Sault Ste. Marie

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.—A gold rush has started on St. Joe's Island and a dressed turkey spread the tip. It all started when a prominent merchant told the number of turkeys for Christmas to deserving families.

Mrs. J. H. Hammond, who dressed a turkey presented by the merchant, found in its crop a gold nugget valued at $250. The turkey was one of a shipment from St. Joe's Island, and prospectors are busy trying to get out just which farm this particular bird came from.

Brought Patients From North

"Punch" Dickens Again Aids Men Needing Medical Attention

Edmonton, Alberta.—C. E. "Punch" Dickens, Western Canada Always Pilot, has brought his plane to Edmonton from McMurray on another "errand of mercy." His passenger, a northland resident in need of medical aid, was Dick Dawson, mining engineer, who had suffered from an appendicitis attack. H. H. Perry, a mine employee, who recently sustained a serious eye injury in an accident, and another man, who had his arm crushed while working on a drill.

CRITICISM IS HURLED AGAINST U. S. DRY BOARD

Washington, D.C.—Three more dry members of the senate have spoken their minds concerning present prohibition enforcement conditions.

Borah, of Idaho, Norris, of Nebraska, and Brookhart, of Iowa, all Republicans, entered the current controversy with expressions of dissatisfaction with existing enforcement agencies.

Borah, who as President Hoover's presidential campaigner, was a prohibition issue, assailed the entire personnel charged with making the Volstead act effective, and asserted that as now constituted it would never enforce the law.

Norris, who supported governor Hughes in his presidential campaign, declared that efforts to suppress the alcohol traffic have never been based on good faith in numerous occasions. Enforcement officers, he said, have many times overlooked cases of men with political influences making fortunes through traffic in illicit liquor.

Brookhart came to the support of Senator Harris, of Georgia, in the latter's demand for the removal of Judge Paul J. McCormick, from President Hoover's law enforcement commission. Referring to McCormick's assertion that search of private homes without warrants was an outstanding evil of present enforcement activities, Brookhart expressed impatience "with making the government the criminal in enforcing the law by making houses out of bootleggers."

UNITED BORDER PATROLS NOW PLANNED BY U.S.

Washington, D.C.—Plan for prohibition enforcement, which includes a unified border patrol and limitation of the number of ports of entry from Canada, will be submitted by the treasury to congress as soon as joint congressional committee to consider prohibition questions is named. Under Secretary of Mills, who made the announcement, said the plan for a unified border patrol would require the consent of Canada because it will provide for limitation of the number of ports of entry to this country. In addition the plan, he said, will provide for an extensive border patrol under direction of the coastguard to prevent smuggling.

At present, the Under-Secretary added, a person coming from Canada may enter this country anywhere along the border, but must report his entrance at the nearest port. This is required, he said, a patrol to work ten or fifteen miles inside the border. Under the new plan if approved by congress, however, the border patrol would work along the coast border and prevent entry anywhere except at points designated by the government.

Ottawa.—The "teeth" would be taken out of the proposal mentioned from Washington for limitation of the number of ports of entry from Canada, it is considered in official circles, if legislation were enacted by the Dominion parliament to allow to vessels carrying liquor to the United States. The possibility that steps might be taken to refuse clearance for liquor shipments from Canada has been mentioned from time to time.

No official statement was obtainable, however, on the Department of the Washington despatch. Hon. W. D. Buler, Minister of National Revenue, said he was not sure and will not return for several days.

Mount Ishbel

High Peak In Rocky Mountains Named After British Labor Premier

Ottawa.—A peak in the Rockies 10,000 feet in height, has been named Mount Ishbel. The name is in honor of the late British labor premier, who was recently buried in Canada, which Miss Ishbel MacDonald made with her husband, the late Sir John MacDonald, is located 12 miles west of Banff, standing boldly above those visible from the Lake Louise district.

Announcement that Miss MacDonald's name had been perpetuated for all time in this manner, was made recently from the Department of the Interior.

Predicts Northern Railway

Lies From Peace River To Great Slave Lake Certain, Says Colonel Cornwall

Edmonton, Alberta.—Construction of a railway line from Peace River to Great Slave Lake is predicted by Col. J. N. K. Cornwall, veteran northwesterner, who paid a flying visit to Edmonton on his way to Victoria for the Christmas holidays in Victoria, B.C.

"Northern development cannot be halted," he added. "The region is one of the richest in the world, and its development will really begin when adequate railway transportation is provided."

Rescue Is Effected

London, England.—Exchange Telegraph despatches from Ellington, New Zealand, reported the crews of two whaling expeditions sent out by the Royal Antarctic expedition had been rescued after their boats had been crushed in the ice. The news was received by the Byrd supply ship on his way to Antarctica. The "Pleasant Bell" is now at Dunedin, New Zealand.

Made Long Hike

Guelph, Ont.—Fiddling for 18 miles through the snow-filled road from Guelph, Ontario, to a point seven miles from Arthur, Peter Peterson, 80-year-old Arthur resident, has established a record for endurance. He had come to Guelph by train and returned to his home on foot although he had a return ticket in his pocket.

Starts Egg-Laying Contest

Society Brand Clothes

We have never used the word "cheap"

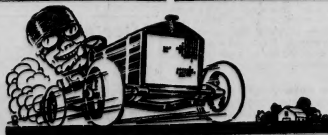

That word carries a meaning that doesn't apply to the merchandise we sell. It seems to suggest that we can give you something for nothing. And we can't.

Take Society Brand Clothes. They cost a bit more than the average. They simply can't be sold for less than forty dollars. And when you buy them you're paying for everything you get.

But here's the point: The things you do get—such as fine fabrics, really expert tailoring, and unequalled smartness of cut—are of the sort that give you more satisfaction than you can measure in money.

That's value—as we understand it. Come see our new showing of Society Brand, and we believe you'll feel the same way!
